DEVIL'S TONGUE
Amorphophallus bulbifer

This plant is a cousin of the corpse flower, but not as stinky! It grows from an underground tuber, and produces one branched, complex leaf per growing season. It is native to the Himalayas.

Find in: Aroid House

Spadix, or flower spike, made up of tiny, simplified flowers.

GARFIELD PARK CONSERVATORY ALLIANCE

Share your creation and tag us at @gpconservatory or use the hashtag "#GPCatHome"! This work is supported in part by a grant from PNC Foundation.